Nobody rewinter, if conditions should require more attention at that time. President Green of the American Federation of Labor predicts "belly flop"... We had a new suit a state of affairs worse than last winter. John Barton Payne, was silence when we came into the head of the American Red Cross, says the situation now is se- room and the subject of the converrious, but not critical. To his mind the burden of caring for the next door made too much noise at unemployed rests primarily on the states, counties and munici- midnight palities.

It goes without saying that when business recovery comes about it will be by natural rather than artificial means. The president showed statesmanship when he inaugurated the international debt plan which revived hope in a despairing world. That helped—how much remains to be seen. He did all in his power to speed up business in this country through the original where did the blow strike? Deep conference with representative bankers, manufacturers and industrial and labor chiefs and by the appointment of Colonel Arthur Woods as the head of a committee to spur employment. grieves alone, but brings up courage The present purpose is a survey to co-ordinate the diversified Pride is wounded, it fights valiantly activities of the many agencies dealing with the relief of the unemployed. A stitch in time saves nine, and by preparing in ad- thought we amounted to something, vance it will surely be possible to do more effective work.

Both President Hoover and Mr. Payne are opposed to call- rudely that we're just one of the ing on the federal government at this time. "We must," says the latter, "guard against the dole. One look at England and a bright green hat and there's a big Germany, where a dole system is at work, should convince intelligent Americans that we want no such system in this country." This is not hardheartedness; it is simply common sense. It would be risky to predict what the future has in store for us. It might even be that conditions will have improved to such an extent that organized relief on a large scale might not be needed.

TALKING FASTER

London newspapers have a way of turning up out-of-the-ordinary "Americana" which even the American Mercury cannot beat. One of them has quoted a short-hand expert to the effect that this generation of Americans is talking much faster than did the preceding generation.

Comparison of records made by shorthand writers appears to prove that Americans gain 10 words a minute every 20 years. They may not express any more or better thoughts in the same length of time, but they get more words out. The behaviorists should be able to make use of this information to prove something or other.

One can fancy drummers telling two anecdotes in the time that used to be required for one, and business letters being dictated at breakneck speed. It is safe to conclude that if sentences intended for a stenographic report some faster than formerly, casual conversation flows at still higher speed. Americans employ a kind of shorthand in speech that gives a staccato effect of great rapidity, but our letters at least retain ience was principally composed of man who thinks he is too good to lar, time and energy, the courteous phrases of commerce.

If it be true that the nation's tongue has been accelerated, then it should follow naturally that tiresome talkers should the sooner conclude their tale. There is no evidence of it.

NEVADA DIVORCES INVALID

Judge Walter Perry Johnson of San Francisco is quoted as saying that Nevada divorces granted under the law permitting application after staying six weeks in the state are not binding in the courts of other states unless the defendant appeared. The reason given was that the cards in one's possession was the Nevada court does not have the power to act.

It is a general rule of the law that certain facts must exist to authorize a court to hear and decide a case. In some instances residence of the party within the state in which the court sits is necessary. Obviously, sign of a degenerated heart. By GEORGE E. DURNO International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.-An exsystem has convinced the Wickersham commission on law observance and enforcement that it is founded on "brawn without brains".

In another report to President adequate equipment to cope with the appended and highly endorsed: highly organized gangster and crook. the executive was advised.

Corrupting Evils.

Throughout, the commission found the police system shot with the corrupting evils of politics, and in many of the larger cities, it was stated, there is a distinct alliance between politics, police and crime.

Six major weaknesses were cited in the report, which was the third of the nine thus far issued by the commission without the signature of Monte Lemann of New Orleans. Leman dissented from the prohibition report, and also objected to the "generalizations" in the one on criminal procedure, but he appended

CHAKING a little me-Chanical trouble out of your car is not so hard_but when the car itself gets YOU into trouble, shaking the responsibility just can't be done!

"Why didn't I take my car to the dealer who sells it . . . for service. I would have been dollars ahead"

Remember---the Dealer Who Sells Your Car Knows It Better Than Any One Else

RIGHT NOW IS THE TIME to turn over a new leaf and place the responsibility for your car's performance and low upkeep cost on the dealer who sells that make of car. If you have been in the habit of going elsewhere to have your work done, you will quickly realize the advantages of trusting your car to the dealer who sells it.

Many people are greatly mistaken when they visualize in their minds that a dealer is anxious to run up a big bill for certain work. The dealer who sells your car is "tickled" when a few adjustments or very little work is necessary to put your car in first class shape.

The lower this dealer can keep your operating cost, the more satisfied you are going to be, and the more advertising you are going to do for this dealer due to the fact that you are 100% satisfied.

Your dealer is interested in building up confidence in his customers and only through entire satisfaction and service from your car can this be done.

For service of any kind, take your car to the dealer who sells that car. It Pays!

BETTER Service and BETTER Lubrication take your car to the dealer who sells that car!

YOUR BRAKES

Are they working to perfection? If not, have them attended to NOW. The local dealer who sells your make of car is thoroughly acquainted with the brakes and knows exactly what to do. Let him keep them in perfect adjustment.

The End of a Noble Experiment!

Experience has been a costly teacher to New Castle's Coal Merchants . . . . we have found that cash and credit do not mix in the coal business . . . . we have tried the noble experiment of accommodating many customers by extending a too liberal credit but it has failed . . . . thousands of dollars in working capital is tied up in delinquent accounts.

From the standpoint of the dealer, coal merchandising must be a cash business . . . . we must pay cash for our coal . . . . cash for the freight . . . . cash for taxes and rentals and cash for the regular payroll of our employees. WE SIMPLY CANNOT CONTINUE TO BUY FOR CASH AND SELL FOR CREDIT.

Hence the COAL FOR CASH policy of the New Castle Coal Merchants Association—a policy which every fair minded coal customer will approve as the soundest way to do business.

IF YOU CAN'T PAY YOUR BILLS?

A promise to pay must be kept or you suffer-the merchant loses confidence in you.

Character is built by keeping one's promises. Good character is the greatest asset one can possess—it is the basis of all credit.

When something happens and you cannot pay according to the terms of the purchase, what do you do? If you can't pay, the proper and important thing to do is to frankly explain matters to the merchant or his credit manager.

Conditions beyond one's control might prevent a promise being kept-but, if you don't tell the merchant, he will assume you are
